

THIS SUMMER!

Dayspring Christian School

will be offering

LOGIC 101: LEARNING TO THINK CRITICALLY

In our culture we are daily bombarded with poor arguments and reasoning. From social media to commercial advertising, from politicians to news outlets, and from peers to “experts,” we and our children are subjected to arguments that are not logical or reasonable - and which ultimately will lead to invalid conclusions. This course is designed to help students from 7th to 11th grade learn to reason correctly.

- Students will learn the basic laws of Logic.
- Students will learn the difference between inductive and deductive reasoning, and what kinds of conclusions can be drawn from each.
- Students will learn how to identify flawed conclusions used in persuasive speaking.
- Students will learn to identify specific kinds of fallacies in arguments.
- Students will develop thinking skills which will improve their ability to excel in other academic courses (both high school and college), as well as in chosen vocations.

Course Instructor:

- David G. Martin
- M.A. Wheaton College Graduate School
- 13 years instructor in Logic and Rhetoric in both middle and high schools.
